6. Final remarks

Elia highlights that the use of APIs is an optional feature provided to the BSP.

A call to action is given that in case a BSP wants to build their own tool and experiences some issues in setting this up, they can contact their KAM Energy.

Elia also highlights that the presented roadmap is highly dependent on the approval of the Terms and Conditions by the CREG.

In general all feedback is welcome: use of APIs, EPIC, wordings, process flow, ...

7. Q&A session: overview of questions asked

Question (Yuso)

Why is the website branded TraXes.io and not Elia.be?

Answer

TraXes is a separate platform maintained by Elia which bundles all APIs. It was simply a choice that has been made and follows the likes of EPIC and OpenData.

Question (Yuso)

Will APIs via TraXes also be made available for BRPs?

Answer

Elia will come back on this and will share the roadmap for the coming year.

Question (Total Energies)

Is metering also made available for BSP accounts?

Answer

The idea is to develop and share more information via the EPIC platform. In the future Elia hopes to be able to share the metering data as well but this is not the focus for now. Elia is open to discuss the adding of any new features to EPIC.

Note that certain metering data is already made available via the BSP Settlement reporting on EPIC.

Question (Yuso)

Can the credentials of TraXes already be requested before the 6th of October?

Answer

No, the client secret ID, to access the API, will only be made available as of the 6th of October.

Question (Flexcity)

Who is the appropriate contact for account connectivity issues, especially during this start-up phase?

Answer

The KAM Energy may be contacted in case of any feedback or issues and the questions will be dispatched to the relevant expert.

Question (Yuso)

How is the company's account created on TraXes/EPIC?

Answer

Whenever a BSP is onboarded, a BSP admin is assigned to a person within the company. Elia can retrieve the assigned person if needed. This person will be able to invite other colleagues to the portal.

Question (Total Energies)

Is metering for BRPs already available via TraXes?

Answer

No answer could be given during the meeting.

An answer was received from an internal expert: the metering for BRPs is not yet available via TraXes, though the intention is to provide it by the end of 2025. It is however already available through EPIC.

No additional feedback on the APIs, EPIC or the Terms and conditions was received during this session.

8. Next meeting

On September 25th, 2025, Elia will organize a demo/training session on the use of EPIC and strongly advises all BSPs to participate.
